POWERPOINT TEMPLATE USER GUIDE

Title Slides

The title slide is the very first slide of your presentation and serves as an introduction to your entire content. It typically includes the presentation title, your name or the presenter's name, a presentation date, and often a subtitle or key image. The purpose of the title slide is to capture the audience's attention, establish the topic, and set the tone for the rest of the presentation.

Agenda Slides

Agenda slides outline the structure and flow of your presentation, listing the topics or sections to be covered. They help the audience anticipate what's coming and provide a clear roadmap for the presentation's progression. You may choose to only list agenda items, or you could include short descriptions if your agenda contains four items or less.

The section titles listed on the agenda slide should match the section titles used on the respective section headline slides as well as the section divider slides. This consistency helps the audience recognize and connect the agenda with the actual content.

Content Slides

Content slides contain substantial textual information, such as detailed explanations, lists, or paragraphs. Use them sparingly to avoid overwhelming the audience. Consider breaking up content with subheadings, bullet points, or visuals to maintain engagement.

Keep the text on content slides concise and to the point. Avoid lengthy paragraphs or excessive wordiness that can overwhelm the audience. Use clear and concise language to convey your message effectively.

Content slides, when used strategically, can provide valuable information and support your key points. By organizing the content effectively, emphasizing key information, and maintaining readability, you can create content that is informative, engaging, and impactful for your audience.

Infographic Slides

Infographic slides present complex information or data using visual elements like charts, graphs, diagrams, or illustrations. They help simplify and clarify information, making it easier for the audience to understand and retain.

Simplicity in infographic slides enhances clarity, allowing the audience to grasp the information quickly and easily. By focusing on key data points or core concepts, you eliminate unnecessary details and prevent information overload.

Section Divider Slides

These slides mark the beginning of each major section within your presentation. They serve as a roadmap for your audience, guiding them through the different parts of your presentation and helping them understand the structure and flow.

Display the section title prominently and include a brief overview or key points. By establishing a clear correlation between the agenda and section headline slides, you create a cohesive structure for your presentation. This allows the audience to follow along, anticipate the upcoming content, and navigate through the different sections with ease.

Statement Slides

Statement slides are designed to deliver a clear, impactful message. Whether used for key takeaways, quotes, one-liners, or moments of emphasis, these slides help create rhythm throughout a presentation and draw attention to the ideas that matter most. Keep messaging concise, intentional, and easy to absorb briefly.

Closing Slides

The closing slide is the final slide of your presentation and serves as a conclusion or farewell to your audience. The purpose of the closing slide is to leave a positive and lasting impression, wrap up the presentation smoothly, and potentially provide contact information or next steps for further engagement. Keep the closing slide simple, visually appealing, and aligned with the overall design of your presentation.

Logos

We have two logos. One that is great for things like sales, recruiting, client relations – things that the outside world sees. Our other one is for those who already know us. Please refrain from using any unofficial logos.
Access the full logo suite here.

Buttons

Buttons are an effective way to let hyperlinks or other actions stand out in your presentation. If you choose to use these, make sure you stick to one color and style throughout the presentation.

Why can't I edit certain elements on a slide?
Some elements may be locked into the presentation's "Slide Master." This helps keep layouts and branding consistent across the deck.

To edit Master Slides:
1. Go to View → Slide Master
2. Select the layout you want to edit
3. Make updates to backgrounds, fonts, placeholders, or other locked elements
4. Click Close Master View when finished
5. Changes made in Slide Master will update across all slides using that layout.

My slide feels unfinished. Any quick design tips?
A few simple adjustments can make slides feel more polished:

- Keep it simple: Avoid overcrowding slides with too much text or too many graphics
- Use consistent fonts: Stick to 1–2 fonts throughout your presentation
- Limit bullet points: Keep copy short and easy to scan
- Use color intentionally: Stick to the approved brand palette
- Make text readable: Use clear fonts and sizes large enough to read easily
- Create hierarchy: Use larger text or bold styles to highlight important information
- Align elements: Clean alignment helps slides look more professional
- Use animations sparingly: Simple transitions work best
- Preview before presenting: Double-check spacing, formatting, and readability

How do I change an element to a brand color?
Use the color library in this template's User Guide to copy approved colors.

To copy a color:
1. Select the shape or text with the color you want
2. Right-click and choose Format Shape or Format Text
3. Use the color options to copy the color
4. Select the new element you want to update
5. Paste or apply the copied color

How do I adjust tables without changing the design?
PowerPoint tables can be resized while keeping their formatting intact.

- Click the table to select it
- Drag the edges or corners to resize
- Drag column or row lines to adjust spacing
- PowerPoint will usually preserve fonts, borders, and colors automatically

After resizing, review the table to make sure it still feels clean, balanced, and easy to read.

Why does pasted text keep changing styles?
PowerPoint automatically tries to match pasted text to the slide formatting.

To keep formatting consistent:
1. Copy the text from Word or another slide
2. Paste it into PowerPoint
3. Choose either:
   - Keep Source Formatting to preserve the original styling
   - Keep Text Only to match the presentation styles cleanly

How do I export my presentation as a PDF?
Exporting as a PDF is a great way to share a presentation while keeping formatting consistent across devices.

To export a PDF:
1. Go to File → Export or Save As
2. Choose PDF as the file format
3. Select where you want to save the file
4. Click Export or Save
5. Before sending, review the PDF to make sure fonts, images, and layouts appear correctly.

How do I share a PowerPoint for presenting?
If someone else will be presenting the deck, it's best to share the original PowerPoint file so animations, videos, and slide formatting remain intact.

Best practices for sharing:
- Share the .PPTX file whenever possible
- Include any linked fonts, videos, or assets if needed
- Double-check that all slides display correctly before sending
- If presenting virtually, test the presentation in presentation mode ahead of time

For added compatibility, you can also include a PDF version alongside the PowerPoint file.

Always open PowerPoint files in the desktop app, not a browser. Browser versions do not support embedded fonts and can cause formatting issues.

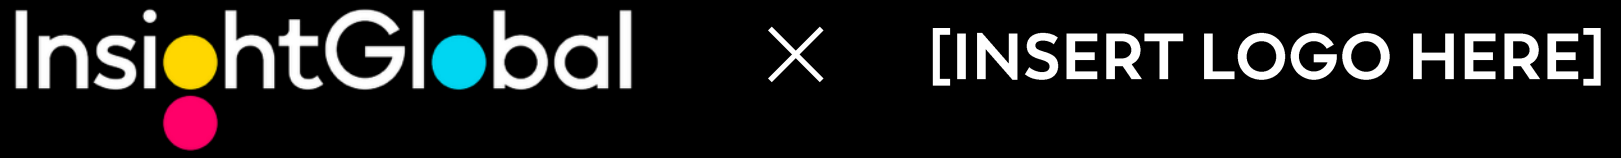

Type Sizes

Most of these are predetermined in the master layouts, but for custom sales pages, here are recommended sizes.
